General Plan Update

In July and August, the Planning Team initiated the first phase of the Bountiful by Design (General Plan Update) planning process which focused on gaining an understanding of what makes Bountiful special, the predominant challenges that the City is facing, and how the updated General Plan can best guide the City into the future.

This month, we are moving into the visioning phase of the process, working with you to create a community-built vision statement for the future that will serve as a guiding compass for the policies and actions in the new General Plan.
